Lloyd George has been over in Germany and comes back an admirer of Hitler. On the very day that he gives an interview lauding Hitler as a friend of peace, another bit of news appears. It is that every German of military age has received notification at what station he is to report in the event of war and what he is to bring with him in the way of accoutrement. The man of peace is rattling a sabre at the time he is impressing Lloyd George with his desire to live in harmony with all the world except perhaps Russia. It was not hard to impress the Welshman. He has lost respect for (and in) France and is not averse from making things difficult for the Baldwin government which finds difficulty enough in keeping equilibrium between France and Germany.

If the Prosperity Dollar does not stand the wear and tear what of it? A dollar does not cost much, just the cost of printing and paper. It can be renewed and if it does not stand the wear and tear it must be because the paper is of poor quality or it is overworked. A dollar is supposed to work and the harder it works the better. A dollar that works with velocity is of far more service than the dollar that works in a lazy, leisurely fashion. Paper and printing are so cheap that redemption of the overworked dollar should cause no concern. The authority that issues it can replace it at little cost with a nice clean, crisp dollar. After all, the paper is only a symbol. If it is overworked, another stands ready to take its place.

It is only the thing the symbol stands for that is in danger of being overworked. If it is overworked, it can only be repaired by the sweat of the brow, the toil of the brain, the exercise of skill, the practice of professional ingenuity, the genius for invention and all the other processes that make the symbol live up to the professions printed on it. To complain that the paper does not stand the wear and tear is a trivial objection that can easily be disposed of. What stands behind it is not so easily repaired if it suffers the same wear and tear.

Regular Meeting Of Town Council Held

Only a small amount of business occupied the attention of the councillors of the town of Vulcan when they held their regular monthly meeting in the town office on Monday evening last.

The request of Mr. J. B. Morley that the town accept prosperity certificates in payment of taxes was refused.

The council decided not to pay for relief work in full but to hold back a certain amount for future relief.

A resolution was passed and sent to the provincial government protesting against the cancellation of the license of the Vulcan bus, operated by O. A. Craig.

The new section of sidewalk, from J. T. Willard's warehouse to the station corner, is practically completed and the council is satisfied that the new oil-gravel mixture used in construction will make as good a sidewalk as the far sand walks laid last year.

The routine number of bills were passed for payment before the council adjourned.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE UNITED IN MARRIAGE

HARRIMAN—JOHNSTON

What was intended as a surprise party for Frank Clark, whose birthday was on Thursday, October 1st, proved to be a surprise for many when the birthday party was turned into a wedding.

Owing to the unexpected arrival in town of Mr. and Mrs. "Buster" Johnston from Innisfail, Miss Muriel Johnston and Mr. Herbert Harriman decided to be married then instead of later, so that the brother of the bride could be in attendance.

Gowned in blue crepe with accessories to match, Muriel Peace, second daughter of S. W. Johnston, made a pretty picture as she became the bride of Herbert Matthew, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Harriman.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. O. Anderson and the bridegroom by his brother, Mr. Harold Harriman. Rev. P. G. McPherson officiated.

A dainty buffet lunch was served by Mrs. Clark to about thirty-five guests. Among whom were: Mr. and Mrs. A. Harriman, Mr. and Mrs. R. ANGLICAN CHURCH NOTES

On October 11th two thoughts come before the devout mind; the one, the death of William Tyndale on 6th Oct., 1536; the other, observance of Dominion Thanksgiving Day, Oct. 12th, 1936. The former will be the subject of the discourse at Holy Communion service in St. Aldhelm's church at 11 a.m.; Thanksgiving will be the note for Evensong at 7.30. Service will also be held in St. John's church, Lomond, at 8 p.m.

Representatives from the Municipalities of Dinton, Riley, Royal, Harmony and Marquis met at Vulcan on Tuesday to discuss preparation for a district convention, which they decided to hold at Vulcan on November 4. Arrangements are under way to secure Mr. Farnell, provincial president of municipalities and Hon. Chas. Cockroft as principal speakers. Mayor E. King of Vulcan and the M.L.A.'s and M.P.'s of the district, will also be in attendance.

During the course of the meeting, municipal matters came up for discussion and the representatives generally agreed that all municipalities were in urgent need of Dominion aid for the coming winter and in regard to the free freight rate and relief of the stock situation. As the matter now stands, the M.D. of Marquis was the only municipality represented that was in line for Dominion aid on personal relief as well as the free freight concessions. It seemed evident that the Dominion government considered the Marquis M.D. the only one classed in the dried out area and did not deem it necessary to lend aid to the others, which had been able to carry on through the past hard years without outside help, but who have now reached the end of their rope and will be absolutely unable to finance relief costs for this year. Every municipality is faced with a tremendous increase of relief burdens this year and if refused support, their revenues will be hopelessly inadequate.

Speaking of Walking.

Despite his having passed the four-score milestone of life, Mr. A. F. Whitney of Reid Hill, still believes in taking plenty of vigorous outdoor exercise.

He has for some years hoped to be able to say that he walked to town from his farm at Reid Hill, which is a distance of twelve miles, after his eightieth birthday and on Saturday, October 3rd, he demonstrated his ability to do this.

He left his home at 1 a.m. and arrived in Vulcan at 5 a.m., having walked the entire distance, and was on hand to greet several of the leading business men when they opened their stores on Saturday morning.

Mr. Whitney has resided in the Reid Hill district since 1911. Notwithstanding his eighty years he still is very erect and has an elastic step to his walk. If health and vigor are any criterion he has many more years of active life ahead of him.

UNITED CHURCH NOTES

The members of the Girls' Work Board of the United Church held a C. G.I.T. rally and supper meeting on Monday evening, October 15th in the church hall.

The speaker for the evening was Mrs. C. L. Oldfield, former girls' work secretary for Alberta, of Milo.

She gave the girls a very inspiring talk, mentioning many projects which would be worth their while for their winter meetings. Mrs. Oldfield was in her best form and was much appreciated by both girls and ladies.

Earlier in the program Hannah Clarkson gave a fine report of her visit last July, to the C.G.I.T. Camp Council for Alberta, at Kasota Beach, Sylvan Lake.

Mildred Ulrich led the girls in a Chinese toast and taught them the claps they learned at Millerville camp last July.

A sing-song was led by Betty Otte-well.

Twelve C.G.I.T. girls from Vulcan attended the Millerville camp and two were sent to Camp Council at Kasota Beach. This was the result of the fine work done by the leaders, Mrs. T. B. Lebeau, Miss E. Jettinjohn and Mrs. D. O. Jantzie.

The supper was convened by Mrs. H. Ulrich. Program prepared by Mrs. E. Love.

Mrs. E. Love, Mrs. G. Mensinger and Mrs. Benjamin are new leaders for the fall term. Mrs. P. G. McPherson acted as chairman.

The meeting closed with the singing of a round and taps.

CHEERING WORDS—IF

Two messages of good cheer regarding Alberta have been recorded in the past week. Hon. T. A. Crerar, minister of mines, observed "Alberta has the greatest potential wealth and future in the dominion." Again, the Alberta Bondholders' Commission, after a detailed investigation of the finances of the province declared it to be economically and financially solvent. Both of these authorities, qualify their remarks by the warning that confidence must be re-established or development will be retarded. Investors must be reassured of security. Withdrawal of capital, and postponement of further loans will injure the province economically.

This restoration of confidence to which reference has been made, is necessary not only for outside interests, but for the good of the people within the province. A feeling of apprehension exists amongst many Alberta citizens. How often one hears the comment "For the first time in my life, I would like to get out of Alberta. I am afraid for the future." This comes from people whose life time of labor, earning and investment has been tied up in the province. Their fear has no connection with the fertility, the productivity of the country. But they distrust the lengths to which legislation may go, in penalizing the man of property, the man so unfortunate as to have loaned money. If this cloud is permitted to remain, it will destroy the fibre of a very necessary element of our citizenship.

Premier Aberhart and his government must be aware of this apprehension, which has been created not by money barons, nor even by the actual legislation, a part of which was probably right and necessary. But it has been created by the apparent attitude of antagonism of government members to the whole creditor class, to the "capital" class—and after all, a large proportion of citizens are capitalists in however humble a degree.

It is possible that the government might have attained the ends they sought in protecting debtors, by using more discretion in the spoken word, by being less voluble and threatening. It is that attitude which has, perhaps unintentionally, shaken the confidence of many people.

It is within the power of the government to restore confidence. Much has been done to reassure those who are bowed in poverty and debt. It is very necessary that assurance of security be extended to other elements of the provincial life who also are "God's children." Otherwise this province, with its fine possibilities of development, will lose not only credit and good name, but will lose good, progressive citizens.

UNITED STATES ELECTIONS

The Presidential election in United States is of more than common interest to Canadians this fall. It may be only political pre-election talk which has brought out Republican eloquence against the Reciprocity pact, but there has been sufficient anti-Reciprocity propaganda to ally Western Canadians on the side of President Roosevelt.

Not that the reduced tariff for cattle actually meant such a great deal to Western Canadian cattlemen. But it furnished a nearby export market, and was a friendly move. It laid the foundation for better trade relations.

In fact President Roosevelt's attitude, both in speech and policy, has been that of practical goodwill to us as neighbors. More than any financial trade benefits which either country might realize through reciprocity, was the carrying through of negotiations which tore down some of the barricaded structure of tariff walls. A speaker here recently, referring to the mutual saving effected by the 3000 miles of unfortified boundary, said that we still maintained the fortifications of tariffs, and that the abandonment of such fortifications might prove as beneficial, as had the agreement to maintain no military barriers. President Roosevelt has shown willingness to consider this view.

Three Questions Who Has An Answer?

The Price of Hogs; The Dehorning of Cattle; The Lack of Latest Information on the U. S. Quota

Three questions have been submitted to the Times in the last few days, and any one knowing the answers would oblige by giving them:

1. With the prevailing scarcity of feed in the country, and the growing scarcity of hogs, why is the price of hogs going down, and is bacon following the downward trend?
2. Announcement is made that after May, 1937, all cows not dehorned will be penalized $1.00 a head. Who is making that law, and who is enforcing it?
3. Why is it that the Dominion government with all its facilities, has not notified producers' associations daily, as to the state of the U.S. cattle quota, in order to protect the producers?

Everyone is interested in the first question, since every farm has a few hogs. And everybody eats bacon. With the high cost of feed, and the announced depletion of hog population, the normal reaction would be mounting prices. What or who is responsible for the falling sale?

In respect to the new law re dehorning, the only information coming under notice is a news note from the Lethbridge Herald:

"Next year's model in cattle goes officially streamline."

"Beginning May 1, 1937, the cow with the crumpled horn, long famed in nursery rhyme, will virtually disappear from the market when buyers for packing plants impose a long-pending penalty of one dollar a head for all cattle wearing out-moded battle adornments.

"Announcement to this effect is made by the Industrial and Development Council of Canadian Meat Packers."

The question of up-to-the-minute information on the quota for the U. S. cattle market is one of particular interest to all livestock men. For some weeks past, certain dealers have found it to their interest to spread the news that the cattle quota is filled. This was not true, and is still not true, though it is now about 96 per cent. filled, but it did serve to advance the dealer's end at the expense of the seller. If daily information had been available over the radio and press, to the producers, it would have safeguarded the owner of livestock in his sales. The Dominion government should provide this service.

Moreover he has visited Canada in his official capacity, the first visit of such a nature ever made by an American president, and he has the high art of expressing gracefully a sincere regard for the Canadian people.

Here in the West we are closely interwoven with our American cousins. Many of our people have relatives to the south of us. And from these relatives come reports of increased employment, of stirring industrial life (not relief work) which indicate that a definite measure of prosperity has returned under the Roosevelt regime.

When we cross the boundary we are impressed with great government undertakings in the buildings of dams and roads and such permanent projects. It is doubtless true that vast sums have been spent, but they have been spent for something enduring. Not a Canadian who has come in touch with the C.C.C. camps, but has great admiration for this method of handling the problem of youth.

These may be superficial angles, but in the aggregate they make an impression, which seems strongly in favor of the return to power of President Roosevelt.

His policy during his term of office has shown courage; humanitarianism and a released mind. We fall under his spell when he speaks over the radio, and our practical relations with him have done nothing to weaken that spell. If he were counting on western Canada, it is likely that he would be returned by a large majority.

DEPLETION OF HERDS

From every side comes the advice to southern Alberta stockmen to sell their cattle. Whether they be farmers with a few head, or ranchers with vast herds, the message does not vary greatly. Those with inferior cattle are urged to rid themselves of these on the cent a pound basis. Those with stock suitable for Eastern feeders are advised to connect with this market, thus removing more stock from the province.

In guaranteeing the cent a pound payment, the government is assuming any loss that packers may incur, though it is not anticipated that there will be loss. In giving concessions to Eastern buyers in the matter of transportation, a market is opened, at prices which are said to be fair. This rids the southern part of the province of cattle to a limited extent. This much the government has done. But it has not made provision for the stock which should be held over. The free freight policy which was expected to assist in preserving foundation herds has proved a bitter disappointment. Even if it were operative in this district, its declarations are such that it is of small account so far as the life of the industry is concerned.

The owner of livestock must get rid of as much stock as he can, purchased at ordinary price what feed he can locate and buy, and pray for a mild winter.

The ranch industry first opened up this province. In the early days it represented great investment, and great wealth. It still represents great investment, though it has suffered under diminishing returns, and the buffeting of nature and markets. But it has been the backbone of development, and in later decades it has become of an increasing consequence in agriculture. The breeding and feeding of beef cattle is a substantial feature of farm life. Dairying, on small or large scale, plays an important part on almost all farms. And in this expansion, the gospel of good dairy herds and high quality beef cattle has brought Alberta an enviable name.

If circumstances force the sale of stock which should be preserved, it will not only cripple the individual operator, but will undermine an industry which has asked little in the way of assistance, and contributed more to provincial wealth than any other phase of agriculture.

NO DICTATORSHIP THERE

To say that democracy holds the fort in the United States is an understatement. Democracy is not even challenged—effectively. The Presidential campaign is running true to form. The major and minor parties all have their offensives in full swing. The platform is free to any candidate who can hire a hall. The radio is accessible to any candidate who can pay the fee. The press functions as usual. What is more interesting and instructive is the fact that about 80 per cent. of the newspapers of the United States, outside of the South, are fighting more or less vigorously the re-election of Mr. Roosevelt. Some of these numerous anti-administration newspapers indulge in exaggerated partisan ethics. While there is nothing new in this—for such is the American way—the fact of the freedom of the press is established beyond any possible dispute. If Roosevelt is a dictator, the dictatorship has a queer way of letting the critics exercise openly all their arts of disparagement.—Exchange.

Caution Advised Big Game Hunting

With the opening of the big game season, ranchers near the mountains enter on their usual period of anxiety. There are some very inexperienced and careless hunters go in to the hills and instances of what is done in the zeal for game would be amusing, if they were not serious either in fact or in possibility.

The law requires that the only area where hunters can pursue the chase is in the forest reserve, and any encroachment on ranch property or leased land must be through permission of the owner or holder. This year cattle are being left up in the hills as late as possible and care with the trigger fire is advised, because a cow and a deer may look alike to an excited. In fact the story is told of two sportsmen "shooting it out" across a gully, both thinking the other was a deer. They lived to find out their error. The ping of a rifle shot near ranch buildings is not unknown.

Courtesy on the part of hunters, whether in the foothills or the farms will as a rule bring courteous response. It is the inconsiderate thoughtless sportsman who not only brings himself into disrepute but penalizes a vast number of others.

High winds again started up fires in the Coleman district.

In Italy, the population per square mile is 349; in Germany the figure is 361; in Japan, there are 433 people per square mile.

There Are Differences

Is there any difference between Pool elevators and line elevator companies? The latter seem anxious to prove that both are the same, but there are several essential differences.

1. Alberta Pool Elevators are the property of 43,000 Alberta grain producers. They are built for service and not for profit. This is not the case with line elevator companies.

2. The finances and operations of Pool elevators are an open book. Each year they are scrutinized by seventy delegates who are representatives of the producers. The detailed operations of the whole system and of each and every Pool elevator are thus obtainable from elected delegates. Is there one line elevator company who will provide customers with such information?

3. The Pools use the grain exchange. But this does not imply an idolatrous attitude towards that organization. The Pools believe that the demonstrated weakness of the speculative system during the depression had a serious reflection in the collapse of agriculture, and that a national wheat board would have offered greater protection. The line elevator companies are not in favour of a national wheat board and never were. John I. McFarland, who conducted stabilization of wheat prices for five years, testified: "Theoretically the open future system is an ideal system for the handling of wheat, if it works; but when it fails to function, as it has failed, because of world-wide subsidies, over-supply and absence of speculators to carry the hedges, then my sympathy leans entirely toward the producer and his protection."

4. The Pools believe the Canadian wheat producers should be given assistance and protection to as great a degree at least as other interests in Canada. The Pools maintain that agriculture is Canada's most important industry and cannot be neglected. The grain trade, on the other hand, continually campaigned for marketing Canada's wheat at "world prices."

5. The grain trade say that the Pools' operations cost millions. That is a sure fabrication. Under the McFarland stabilization operations Canadian farmers produced, and marketed the surpluses of, wheat crops totalling more than one billion bushels, and Canadian prices were maintained at a substantially higher level than those of competing countries. For months the Canadian premiums ran as high as 25c a bushel over prices of competitive wheat.

6. The Pools believe that agriculture needs an aggressive co-operative organization supporting its interests and reflecting the expressed wishes of producers and not subservient to vested interest. The line elevator companies ARE vested interests.

7. The line elevator companies resent being designated as a "family compact," but the very advertisement denying this relationship was a joint affair and tends to substantiate the statement.

Alberta Solvent Says Committee

Special Committee at Request of Alberta Bondholders Investigates Financial Position of the Province

The province of Alberta is economically and financially solvent, and could pay all interest obligations in full, is the opinion of a special committee of financial experts who investigated the financial position of the province at the request of Alberta Bondholders committee. W. E. Elliott and J. A. Walker who made a similar survey in Saskatchewan, took the evidence and assistance was given in assembling the report by James C. Thompson, former provincial auditor.

The committee announces its readiness to discuss the findings with the government, and further suggests that all relevant information be submitted if desired to an impartial commission.

The report is directed, not to bondholders, but to the people of Alberta. The opinion is given that the way toward recovery is clear and not along the path of compulsory debt adjustment and forced reduction of interest.

Dealing with the provincial budget approved in March, thorough investigation had shown that Alberta could meet all interest payments and finish the year with a deficit of only $192,216.

"Unequivocal assurance that contractual obligations will be recognized will alone permit a return of confidence in the credit standing of Alberta and promote once again healthy trade and financial conditions vital to the welfare of Alberta citizens."

It was shown that in 1934 the income of the people of Alberta exceeded the living costs by $90,000,000. This was an improvement of two and a half times the figure at the end of 1930. The year 1934 is the latest for which a complete compilation could be made, but there was further improvement in 1935, and though lower crop yields have reduced 1936 conditions, the situation will be approximately as in 1935.

Collections estimated for the current year do not include $578,000 revenue from motor licenses because of the change in collection date which will make this figure appear in future budgets.

It is believed that Alberta's public debt has not increased disproportionately with other provinces or with Canada as a whole.

It is declared that the budget can be balanced, on the basis of the Elliott-Walker survey without imposing new taxation or radical reduction in customary expenditures, and that "restoration of the fiscal and credit position of the province can make impressive contributions to economic recovery." In any event, it is added, "there is capacity on the part of Alberta to meet full provincial interest payments from the aggregate net income of the people of the province and reduction in the province's interest payments can represent only minor relief in solving the economic problems of Alberta."

"We now feel justified," the committee adds, "in pointing out that a budget deficit of less than $200,000 is not an adequate reason for imposing on creditors an interest reduction of $3,600,000."

Through successive governments, the people of Alberta approached investors and borrowed for the foregoing and other purposes, confident of their ability to pay the prevailing rate of interest, averaging 4.9 per cent. per annum, and to pay the principal.

It is suggested that while the present government's policy, of refraining from borrowing new moneys until Alberta is better able to service its present debt, is wise, there is no doubt that with the development of the abundant resources of the province, new money will be required and capital expenditures from borrowed funds will be justified. The only alternative would be for Alberta to rest content with its present stage of development which Alberta people will never contemplate.

making such a statement. Some of those interviewed admit it is true, but condemn him for making it. All of them, we make no doubt, avoid reading some chapters, or parts of chapters, to adult congregations as well as Sunday school. Many years ago, the Minister of Education in an eastern province prepared a book of selected passages from the Bible for use in public schools and this precipitated a political issue in the next election. He was accused of "emasculating" the sacred book and one violent opponent was alleged to have demanded "the whole damned Bible or none at all." The result was that the text book was withdrawn.

It is absurd to find fault with this clergyman for saying that some parts of the Bible are unfit to be read to children, that Joshua and Judges are blood-soaked, Ecclesiastes too cynical and Job (Froude admired it as literature but could not understand how it got into the Bible), beyond a child's comprehension. This is just criticism and comes not unfttingly from one who looks to the Bible for light and leading. A clergyman may make these statements and still consistently preach the Bible as the best guide to righteousness of life and conduct.

Interviewed at Winnipeg, Lord Rothermere told a reporter the Fascists would win out in Spain. "Mussolini and Hitler will see to that," he added, but whether approvingly or not the despatch does not disclose. We imagine he approves anything if Duce does for he and his string of papers are boosters of Fascism, but, as a Jew he may not have any more admiration for Hitler than he has for Baldwin.

Senator Couzens failed to get the Republican nomination in Michigan. After expressing approval of Roosevelt he had nerve to seek a Republican nomination for anything. If he were living in Alberta he would probably while supporting Social Credit ask for nomination as an opponent of Mr. Aberhart.

Leon Blum announces himself a believer in Democracy, and why not? It made him Premier of France, and will unmake him as it did others, depositing them at irregular but frequent periods thus teaching them that their power is transitory and that real power rests in the hydra-headed thing called Democracy. Blum knows it is his master and thinks to flatter it; but if he thinks that is going to keep him in power for any length of time he has another think coming. Democracy today is more obedient to discipline than it is susceptible to flattery. The factions, undisciplined democracy of France do not permit any Prime Minister to remain in power for more than a few years or months.

A Vimy pilgrim, writing from Armentiers to an old war comrade, put this on the post card: "I saw your lady friend here. My God, how she has aged!" Of course she has, for it is over twenty years since Mademoiselle was enshrined in song.

The result of the elections in Maine gives the Republicans hope, while Democrats whistle over reduced Republican anyway. Maine is Republican anyway and the Democrats are not looking to Eastern States for salvation. Their hope lies in the central and western states. If both parties can suck consolation out of the Maine elections and primaries in other States there is none for Townsend and Coughlin. The several million votes that Coughlin said he would swing toward Lemke do not show promise of being polled. Even his friend and protector Bishop Gallagher, says he will not vote that day.

According to Ottawa despatches, the lives of Quebec Ministers are made miserable by the complaints and demands of Quebec Liberals fired with zeal for the new Nationalism. They complain that their compatriots have not adequate representation on Commissions recently appointed. Government Commissions must be created after the image of the government itself, and therefore must be large if every section, creed, race, occupation is to be represented. If there is a Protestant on the Board, there must also be a Roman Catholic; if one member is of British descent there must be one of French descent. Labor then comes forward and demands representation and perhaps, too, government may decide that it is almost necessary to select some one who knows something about the business for which the Commission is appointed, and he cannot get on very well without a staff of technical advisers and secretarial assistants.

The Quebec Liberals who are pursuing Mr. Lapointe and other Ministers insist that their compatriots should secure representation on such

The cattle quota for the U.S. market has run up to 96.7 per cent.

The total vote cast in the Cardston district at the last election was 3000. There are said to be 2400 registered for basic dividends.

In United States children of today entering colleges average two inches taller and some pounds heavier than in their parents' day. The world over, surveys show that young people are taller and heavier than their ancestors at the same age.

Finance Minister Dunning forecast higher taxes as a result of the western drought, with 200,000 people losing their buying power. The drought will be a terrible handicap to people of this country said the minister, and will throw budget estimates out of line.

Boards according to the ratio the French population bears to the British. When such a question arises it ought to make those believers in government ownership and control wonder whether they are right.

A candidate is not usually particular about the quality of the votes he is getting, but no respectable party candidate cares to have it said that he is getting Communist votes. W. R. Hearst charged that Roosevelt is getting them although the Communists have a candidate named Browder. The President got angry at this and issued a white-heat disclaimer through his secretary. Hearst retorts that the President, voluntarily or involuntarily, is getting them and that he has done a lot to earn and deserve them and quotes some statements by New Dealers to prove his case, especially one by Richberg that "the revolution is not coming, it is here." Hearst himself is a Democrat or was, and knows something of mobs and rabble for his papers have catered to them more than once.

Democrats have cast it up to the Republicans that Hearst is supporting Landon; now they get real angry when it is said that Communists are supporting Roosevelt. The Hearst papers and the Communists are so undesirable that it is well they are not both supporting the one candidate. The former is a hard load for Landon to bear and Roosevelt wants it understood that he is not seeking Communist support. But all that is for public consumption. No candidate can reject the votes of undesirables nor would he if he could. The vote of a nitwit counts the same as that of an intellectual. The vote of a revolutionary counts the same as that of a loyalist.

Mr. Justice Tweedie takes a proper attitude when he declines to give naturalization papers to people who have been or are on relief, until after they have liquidated that account. We do not admit foreigners into Canada if they are likely to become a public charge but in spite of efforts to carry out that regulation men have got in who did become a public charge. It may be their misfortune rather than their fault but a condition that would have prevented entry into Canada should suffice to prevent naturalization, especially now when monthly dividends and old age pensions offer inducements to exploit the paternal indulgences of all governments.

Henry Zang

One of the old-timers of the Alston district, Henry Zang, died at his home on Wednesday, September 23rd. He homesteaded in the Alston district about 32 years ago, residing there until 1924. Local History

Before the New York State and the Ontario Historical Societies at Niagara Falls a few days ago, Dr. Duncan McArthur claimed that the study of local history in the many municipalities would be more beneficial to the children of today than are some of the items that appear in the history books of the present time. Further, he stressed that "the study of history was not something to memorize, but a vital part of the life of the child," and, he added, all children should have an understanding of the growth of civilization and the importance of the history within their own community."—Exchange.

Pools and the Marketing of Grain

The country elevators use the present marketing system because experience and numerous investigations have proved it to be the best and cheapest way of handling and marketing Canada's wheat.

The Western Pools, who are members of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, state that they use its facilities because they have no other alternative. They have other alternatives. They could:

- Sell direct to Canadian exporters;
- Sell direct to overseas millers;
- Sell direct to overseas importers;
- Establish their own Pool Exchange.

They do none of these things, because they know that the open market, of all systems tried to date, affords the farmer the best price and the best protection. In other words, they use their memberships in the Winnipeg Grain Exchange in the same manner as the other country elevator companies use theirs, and for exactly the same reasons.

It may be that some better system can and will be evolved by conference, investigation or experiment. If any other system of marketing which will prove of greater benefit to the farmer can be evolved, it will receive its earliest and strongest support from the elevator companies whose pride it is to have been in the vanguard of service to the farmers of the West for more than thirty years.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.
A mere laxative movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a laxative but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. Life.
